It's our nature.

This park is one of 25 outstanding public facilities operated by your Five Rivers MetroParks system. Founded in 1963 to serve the greater Dayton area, MetroParks protects nearly 16,000 acres of open space and provides year-round recreation, education and conservation opportunities. Facilities are available to the public free of charge – made possible by Montgomery County citizen support of a property tax levy.

2nd Street Market

This public market housed in a renovated railroad freight house offers a variety of local growers, producers, artisans and prepared food vendors. The Market is unlike any other MetroParks facility, but because of its unique aspects, it is able to contribute to the mission of Five Rivers MetroParks. For example, the Market provides convenient access to local foods and organic products, reducing the need for pollution from transportation, and contributing to environmental protection. It also connects local growers with buyers and offers programming that promotes sustainability. Even its renovated structure adds to its ecological appeal by making new use of an existing structure and adding to the overall vibrancy of downtown Dayton.

The Market is open year round. Stop by often and check out everything fresh, unique and local!

THINGS TO DO

VENDORS

More than 50 vendors sell their locally produced products at the Market. You'll find everything you need to prepare delicious and healthy meals. From dry goods to soup mixes to fresh produce to meats, cheeses and breads, stock your kitchen with local bounty.

Prepared food vendors also are on hand to satisfy your craving. Sink your teeth into something sweet or savory. Choose from classic lunch favorites, such as soups or salads, and dishes featuring cuisines from across the globe. Purchase items for gifts or yourself, such as homemade soaps and jewelry, potted plants, or environmentally friendly products for the home.

Additional outside stalls are set up during warm weather months for the popular traditional farmers market, with a host of area growers featuring in-season organic and conventionally grown fruits and vegetables.
