PUMPKIN ASH & SWAMP FOREST
Tucked away in Englewood MetroPark is a unique woodland area—a remnant swamp forest. Visitors can follow a boardwalk into this wet area that supports an unusual population of trees, including black ash, swamp white oak and pumpkin ash. This wetland has been dedicated as a state natural landmark in recognition of the occurrence of pumpkin ash, a tree rarely found in Ohio.

MARTINDALE, PATTY & OAKS FALLS
Englewood MetroPark is home to three waterfalls: Martindale, Patty and Oaks. Treat yourself to a hike on the green trail and discover Martindale Falls, a breathtaking view of a limestone and shale ridge top, which plunges into a wide, rocky undercut ravine. Continue your hike across Patty Falls, named for the Patty family who settled nearby. Here you’ll see the wide, rocky wet-weather falls, along with a side cascade that merrily trickles all year long. Follow the trail across Patty Road for a view of the smaller Oaks Falls. The green trail loop also takes you along the Stillwater River.

OLD NATIONAL ROAD
From Patty Falls, take a short hike down the hill that leads to a bridge over which Old National Road (US 40) passed (near trail intersection 19). Note the limestone blocks and oak planks used in construction.
