In the 1920s and early 1930s, these woods were part of an amusement park known as the Argonne Forest Park. It was created by Hull Hildreth and named in honor of the 322nd Field Artillery Unit that fought in the Argonne Forest in France during World War I. The park included a swimming pool, shooting range, ball diamond, dance hall, wild west trail, saloons and street car. Visit the marked sites along the way to discover remnants of the amusement park.
